

Serendipity 2009

What do chocolate chip cookies, penicillin, post-it-notes, Isaac Newton's apple falling from a tree, discovery of America, teflon, vaccination, cellphone, inkjet printers, microwave ovens and Uranus have in common?

They are all serendipities - accidental discoveries. We have planned four serendipitous weeks—try new things and make new friends. Develop a story into a play, create characters and perform for family and friends. Try your hand at creating your own one of a kind movie that you will take home to share. Learn about famous artists while learning to create fabulous works of art of your own. Investigate flying machines, boomerangs and participate in a live rocket launch.

Lunch

Students who choose options B, D, F, H or J should bring lunch and a drink each day. A healthy snack will be provided.
