Dr. Rongsun Pu

Dr. Rongsun Pu and her husband Guodong moved to East Brunswick in 2002, lured by its beautiful residential neighborhoods, proximity to major highways, and most importantly, its excellent blue-ribbon schools. Being an educator herself, Rongsun deeply appreciates the daily work carried out by all the teachers, professional and support staff, and administrators at every level. She understands that a lot more work is done behind the scenes outside of regular hours in order for the students to have a successful class, a successful school, and a successful school district.

At a back-to-school event, Rongsun learned of EBEF’s many contributions toward enhancing the curriculum, and that its members are all volunteers. Thus started her engagement in the many events held and sponsored by the EBEF.

Rongsun was an instructor of GRE Math in the East Brunswick Adult Community Education program from 2005 to 2006. She served as an elected member of the Board of Trustees of East Brunswick Huaxia Chinese School from 2010 to 2014. Rongsun also served on the Board of Education Curriculum Committee from 2008 to 2015. More recently, she served on the mayoral transition team and the Shop EB program committee.

Rongsun has been a member of the biology faculty at Kean University since 2001. She finds her students inspiring, and is filled with pride and joy to see her students go places and lead productive lives of meaning and purpose.
